School Tax May Drop 12-14 Cents

Taxes will decline next year so, too, will the quality of education, also the condition of buildings and grounds, in the Carmel Unified School District, as the result of a pared down balanced budget of $2,416,917 presented to the board of education last night by Superintendent Medill Bair.

"This budget should guarantee only good average schools. If you adopt it, you are adopting an educational program that is not of as high a level as provided in Carmel schools in the past," Mr. Bair told trustees.

"Any improvements in our educational program will result from 'beyond the call of duty' activities by employees of the district," he emphasized, and recommended a higher salary scale for teachers and a three percent across the board pay raise for classified personnel. Both of these recommendations were unanimously approved by the board.

The proposed budget, studied by the board last night will result in a 12-14 cent drop in the 1966-67 Carmel school district education tax, Mr. Bair predicted. The reduction was accomplished by cuts in the special tax categories which are added to the maximum basic $2.15 school tax allowed by the state. These categories include special taxation for 7th and 8th grade education, community services and adult education.

In all, budget cuts were accomplished by Mr. Bair in 15 budget areas. These cuts, accomplished according to instructions of the school board, reduced the budget proposed prior to the defeat of the 70 cent override tax in March,

Boosters Club To Raise Funds For CHS Sports

The Boosters Club held a meeting Monday night at Carmel High School to discuss constructive, fund raising ideas and appoint committees to implement these ideas so the CHS interscholastic sports program can be preserved.

A Carmel Unified School District budget cut has resulted in a shortage of approximately $6,000 in meeting the athletic program's requirements for the coming year.

Children's Theatre Group Will Perform Old Chinese Play Cycle

Junior and senior high school students, who comprise the oldest Children's Theatre group sponsored by the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula, will present their annual performance for the adult membership of the organization, also prospective members, on Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the Circle Theatre.

Chosen for presentation, after a term of intensive study of classical Chinese theatre, is "Lady Precious Stream," an adaptation of an ancient play cycle translated into English by S. I. Hsiung.

As nearly as possible, the intricate and demanding conventions of the classical Chinese stage will be observed, including stylized gesture, movement and properties, propertymen, "painted face" makeup, and headdresses. Magnificent costumes have been loaned to the group by many residents of the Peninsula.

New Owners Of Studio Theatre

Ownership of the Studio Theatre and Restaurant will change on July 1 when Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Evans and their son, Robert H. Evans Jr., take over operation of the Dolores Street playhouse from Mr. and Mrs. Royden Martin (Betty Hackett) and Dwight Doerr.

The Evanses are not newcomers to theatre operation. Robert and Judith Evans have both served as president of board of directors of the Little Theatre of Monroe, Louisiana, and were instrumental in obtaining a new theatre plant for this community theatre.

Their son Robert, will assume part of the management of the Studio Theatre and with his wife, Carolyn, will build and paint sets for the theatre's productions.

Last year he was designer for the Midland Community Theatre in Midland, Texas, and prior to that studied stage design at the University of Houston in Texas. Carolyn Evans majored in commercial art and theatre at Northwestern State College in Louisiana.

Both the senior and the junior Evanses have homes in Carmel which they have visited for the past 15 years. They became permanent residents two months ago.

According to Robert Evans Jr., future plans for the Studio Theatre and Restaurant are to continue with present policies and personnel. Although he and his parents will not officially take over the theatre for another month, they are working with the Martins and Dwight Doerr on plans for the two musicals which will play on alternate weekends after July 1.

50 Years Ago in Carmel

—THIS WEEK—

Fifty years ago this coming Tuesday graduation exercises were held at Sunset School. The Monterey County Superintendent of Schools, George Schultzberg presented diplomas and "standardized" the eight-grade facility. This meant that Sunset School had attained "the highest degree of efficiency."

Graduates were Gertrude Martha Gates, Miriam Arnold White, Rebecca Delfina Narvaez, Aldine Burton Anthony, Gwendolen Viola Adams, Kenneth Edward Ward and Charles Eric Wray DeVega.

W. L. Overstreet, president of the board of trustees and editor of the Pine Cone, gave the graduation address. The program consisted of folk dances by the primary grades; two dramatizations, "A Song of the Heart" by the 4th grade and "Lady of the Lake" by the grammar grades. Ruth Pudan sang a solo, "Woodland Echoes;" the primary grades an old English folk song; and the grammar grades "Blue Bells of Scotland" and "My Heart's In the Highlands."

The following evening, the graduating class had a dance at the Arts and Crafts Hall and the next afternoon Gwendolen Adams "gave a social affair at the home of her aunt."

* * *

Carmelites were also responding to the plea of Mrs. Sarah White, Sunset School principal, for a victrola. The Pine Cone was collecting the funds and printing the names of donors.

"Educators are realizing more and more the value of music and are endeavoring to train pupils to appreciate good music.

"We wish the pupils of Carmel to cultivate a taste for the best. A victrola would make it possible to give the children the compositions of the masters," Mrs. White declared. She added that "when our parent-teacher club is formed, how pleasant it will be for the tired parents to come to the schoolhouse and listen to some fine music."

Mrs. White was the wife of the Reverend Willis White who 14 years later started the Carmel Kite Festival. Her daughter, Miriam, who graduated from Sunset in 1916, is the wife of Dr. Francis Herrick, history professor at Mills College who will retire this year. The Herricks plan to return to Carmel and live in the house at Camino Real and Ninth in which Miriam grew up.

* * *

Fifty years ago this week, the Pine Cone published a letter from Mary Elizabeth Lloyd. With her donation for the victrola fund she stated "I have tremendous belief in the value of good music in the home and in the school. I promise to give the school at least one good record after the victrola is purchased."

Mrs. Lloyd was the mother of Frank Lloyd, a present day Carmelite.

"It is not probable that in any community in the United States of the size of Carmel was there presented during this period of Shakespeare memorials such a well acted affair, entirely by children, as we witnessed at the Arts and Crafts Hall," the Pine Cone review says of "An Evening With Shakespeare" given the weekend before.

The youthful actors were Marian Ohm, Gwendolen Adams, Inez Fraties, Martha Reihl, Phyllis Overstreet, Fay and Franklin Murphy, Myrtle and Nevera Smith, Gertrude and Harry Gates, Juanita and Alice Pepper, Vere Basham, Aldine Anthony, Grace Wickham, Miriam White, Myrtle and Evelyn Arne, Irene and Kenneth Goold, Dana Newberry, George Aucourt and Dorothy Moore.

* * *

A half-century ago this week, too, the first baseball game of the season took place in the Eighty Acres tract. The Carmel Valley Woodticks defeated the Carmel Sandfleas 11 runs to six.

"We hope that Gus Wolter, (a Woodtick), who gamely remained behind the bat after being injured, is walking normally again," the report of this contest says.

* * *

And the same week, 150 persons showed their interest in the Socialist doctrine by attending a meeting at the Manzanita Theatre. "The World's Crisis—It's Cause and Cure," was the subject discussed. The crisis was the first world war and its cause was defined as "a row among the ruling classes." As for the cure, "That's where the speaker was not very clear," a Pine Cone story declares.

* * *

And everyone was being urged to buy tickets for the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department Ball, one of Carmel's big annual events which was just a month away.

STRAIGHT A STUDENTS AT CARMEL HIGH

Five Carmel High School students headed the third quarter honor roll with straight A averages. They are Adrian Arima, Scott Sinclair, David Erickson, Roger Fonseca and Susan Rzeppa.

Celebrity Tennis, Golf, Return Of Polo Pebble Beach Events

On June 5, polo will return to Pebble Beach. It wasn't too long ago that Del Monte was famous for its high goal polo, teams traveling from South America and Europe to play the best teams in this country.

The match is scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

The Swallows Golf Tournament will be played at the Cypress Point Club June 11 and 12; and on June 18-19 the North-South Team Matches, forerunner of the California Amateur Golf Championship, will be held at Pebble Beach and Cypress Point, with the State Amateur following June 20-26.

Already celebrities are signing up for the First Annual Celebrity Tennis Tournament to be played at the Pebble Beach Tennis Club July 2, 3 and 4. Early entries include Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., James Franciscus, Jack Warden, McDonald Carey, John Lupton, James Brown, and Phil Reed of movie and TV fame. Y. A. Tittle and Frank Albert, football greats, will be on hand too.

ALLIANCE FRANCAISE SCHOLARSHIP

Mrs. J. Thompson of San Francisco, vice president of l'Alliance Francaise for the West Coast, will present the organization's scholarship to a local high school student of the French language on Sunday at 3 p. m. at the Institute of Foreign Studies, Van Buren Street, Monterey. Pine Needles

Peripatetic Carmelite

If Mrs. Elizabeth Buckley ever settles down long enough to record her journeys, the advice she plans to include in a book on how to travel cheaply and still enjoy the experience should be invaluable to Americans going abroad. Mrs. Buckley, whose friend, the late poet Don Blanding, called the greatest vagabond in the world next to himself, is back from four years of wandering to the far corners of the earth. Much of her itinerary she has covered in previous trips, much was new to the observant globetrotter.

With a thorough knowledge of European roads, Mrs. Buckley spent two years camping all over Europe in her specially fitted Volkswagen—not a bus, but the small model. Familiarity with the best campsites and good, inexpensive eating places, she admits, gives her an advantage over the average tourist. In addition to Western Europe, she visited Russia (where there was an opportunity to see the marvelous Bolshoi ballet), Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Poland; winters found her in Palma, Mallorca, constantly encountering fellow Carmelites.

Another advantage Mrs. Buckley has is that her status as a former police officer gains her entree to many areas not permitted to the ordinary tourist. Officials in foreign countries, she finds, are invariably impressed with the fact that a woman could have gained such a position (she was with the Los Angeles Police Department, mostly in the juvenile court area, for 21 years). In Thailand and Viet Nam, for instance, she met two former co-workers who are now security officers in those countries and who escorted her on fascinating tours.

All was not peaceful on her trip, which started in the Orient. Mrs. Buckley was in Kashmir at the time the Chinese invaded and got out only through the help of an official United Nations photographer; in Karachi, she and other Americans were attacked during riots. Nepal was another story, however, and the visit to Darjeeling well worth the seven hour, 50-mile ride on the miniature train which winds up the mountains.

Before going to India, she traveled through Malaysia, spent three wonderful days at Ankor Vat in Cambodia, also visited Thailand and Burma. South Africa, Egypt and Israel were included in her journey and the last six months Mrs. Buckley spent in South America, returning by way of Guatemala and Mexico.

Now she's off to Victoria, B. C., to pick up the antiques she collected along the way and is already planning her return next year to the Orient, Australia and New Zealand.

Eugene Bray Was Married

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Bray are returning to Carmel today after a brief wedding trip to San Ysidro Ranch in Southern California. Mr. Bray and the former Mrs. Elbert R. (Catherine) Smith of San Francisco were married May 19 before family members at the Monterey home of the bride's brother, Dr. William H. Forestelle.

Mrs. Forestelle was her sister-in-law's attendant for the afternoon ceremony which was performed by Judge Eugene Harrah. Michael Bray served as his father's best man.

The new Mrs. Bray is the daughter of Mrs. William Forestelle of Carmel Hacienda and the late Mr. Forestelle. Prior to her marriage, she was a private secretary at the Presbyterian Medical Center in San Francisco.

Mr. Bray, who has a daughter, Beverly, is the manager of Schwabacher and Company in Monterey.

Gathering Of The Clan

With so many family members in town, there's been a whirl of activities at the Robert Rosses' Carmel Point home during the past ten days, largely centered around 14-month-old grandson Scott Ross, who was seeing Carmel for the first time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Craven Ross of Spokane. Scott's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Emberg, have also been here from Spokane.

From Fresno came Mrs. Bob Ross' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Andrews, accompanied by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Andrews, and the Andrews' winsome little daughter, Beth; also Mrs. Ross' brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell.

On May 18, everyone gathered for a birthday party in honor of Bob's mother, Mrs. Henry Ross of Santa Cruz. Additional family members who attended the event were Mr. and Mrs. James Huxtable of Santa Cruz and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wright of Mill Valley.

New Research Assistant?

Roger Winslow of the Stanford Research Institute became a happy father on May 10, when his wife presented him with a second son, whom they have named Paul Wallace. Paul's three-year old brother, Kerry, is most interested in the newcomer at the Winslows' Carmel Valley home. Mrs. Winslow, by the way, is a proud new citizen of the United States who hopes that her mother, Mrs. John Wybrants of Hove, Sussex, England, will be here soon to visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Winslow of Cleveland are the new baby's paternal grandparents.

Life In Faded Elegance

How would you like to live in the faded elegance of an old resort—once a showplace of the Santa Cruz mountains, surrounded by 184 acres of quiet broken only by the song of myriad birds (and, to be sure, the hum of cars by a too-nearby highway)?

"Hap" and Mary Hasty do. Villa Fontenay is a fairly new experience for them, though the former Carmelites have lived in Santa Cruz for 17 years. Perhaps you have passed the entrance to the former resort on the road to Saratoga, not far from Santa Cruz. What you can't see are the jumble of rooms, remains of formal gardens—the hardwood floors of the bowling alley and the ballroom—where the Hastys and their family, a daughter and three sons, can see all the way to Point Sur lighthouse on clear nights.

Since acquiring Villa Fontenay some time ago, the Hastys have investigated its origin. The most recent tenant of the original family, a fine gentleman of advanced years, told them he was born there in 1882. He further related that the family had arrived by schooner in Santa Cruz in 1863. Hap and Mary, who are tremendously interested in "digging," have become determined to find more of the history of the region whose background is so far less known than that of the other coast counties.

The "seigneurs" of Villa Fontenay were in Carmel last weekend to visit and reminisce with friends.

THE KLENES ARE HOME

"Dosveedanya!" cried Mrs. Leonard Klene, drawing on her Russian heritage for a most un-Italian farewell as the Klenes left their hotel in Florence. "Dosveedanya!" replied their friends. "Dosveedanya!" shouted Andrei Gromyko, whose entourage was somewhat startled to hear Americans exchanging the equivalent of so long, au revoir, hasta luego. "What you should have said," Tanya Treutle now tells her, is Prostkaya Navsagda," meaning "Goodbye — forever."

Len and Mimi Klene, however, cannot be imagined to be so impolitic, nor could they have been and had such pleasure in their months of circling the globe. Their trip began in Hawaii, where they visited the family of Mrs. Klene's son, Professor Agatin Abbott, head of the geology and geo-physics department of the University of Hawaii.

For the Klenes, Tahiti was the Gaugin Memorial Museum, spread largely outdoors from forest to sea—New Caledonia, the famous aquarium recommended to them by Carmel artist Maxine Albro, who had seen its fascinating fluorescent corals gathered from the deep for display in inky darkness. Australia was visiting Vinnie Watson and Shirley Greenwood, who have many friends in Carmel, at a sheep station whose nearest, and distant, neighbor is Canberra. In spite of the isolation, Mrs. Klene says, they live in a veritable mansion surrounded by four acres of garden. Australia was also meeting friends in Sydney and seeing the fantastic new opera house which "looks like a pair of beehives lying on their sides, still unfinished."

The only hyena glimpsed in Tasmania was in a zoo, although they did see the awesome Tasmanian devil, a strange and fierce animal resembling nothing else in this world, according to Mrs. Klene.

The mosques, temples and palaces of Iran the Klenes found beyond description in beauty and elegance. While in that country, they enjoyed the hospitality of Persian families in Teheran, Isfahan and Shiraz, whose sons attend Monterey Peninsula College.

Greece and Italy occupied most of the remainder of their journey, since India was ruled out because of the tense situation there. After visiting friends in Rome, they spent a leisurely two and a half weeks driving to Venice. An unexpected pleasure in the Venetian city was La Fenice, a small opera house recommended to them. "It was just like a jewel box," Mrs. Klene reports, adding that they attended two splendid performances of opera buffo in the unusual setting.

In Florence, they saw Mrs. Catherine Lewis who is returning soon to Carmel after eight months in Italy. A chamber music concert in the Pitti Palace in Florence, a gala production of "Aida" at La Scala, Milan (with three horses, an elephant, a chorus of 200 and wonderful soloists all on stage at once) made their Italian tour unforgettable.

It would be impossible in this short space to relate all of the travelers, interesting experiences, but an anecdote of their return trip via the Polar route from London cannot be excluded. At one point, Mrs. Klene awoke to see beneath the plane a vast expanse of white. "Oh, where are we?" she inquired. The young stewardess, without glancing out, replied, "I think over New Guinea." "New Guinea?" exclaimed a panicky Mrs. Klene, immediately thinking they were on the wrong plane. After the stewardess had secured a map, it was determined that the plane, fortunately, was over northern Greenland.

Heidi Joins The Family

John D. "Bud" Todd's demeanor of indifference is misleading, but there is no mistaking the radiance in the face of his wife, Kay, who has already made several roundtrips to Redwood City to see their first grandchild, Heidi. Miss Heidi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Johansen (Marcia Todd) made her debut at Stanford University Hospital May 10 and carries "Kathryn" as her middle name in honor of her maternal grandmother.

The new daughter of the former Peninsula couple is also the granddaughter of Kenneth Johansen of Gilroy and the great-granddaughter of Mrs. Marie Johansen of Pacific Grove. She has many aunts, uncles and cousins here, among whom are Nancy and Greg Todd of Carmel.

Hollywood Visitors

Honeymooning on the Peninsula this week are Robert F. O'Neill, co-producer of the popular television series, Dr. Kildare, and his bride, the former Marlene Manners, television and motion picture actress. Mr. O'Neill is the nephew of Mrs. William Gargiulo of Carmel, who attended the couple's wedding in North Hollywood last Saturday. Mrs. Willard McGraw of Carmel was also a guest at the ceremony.

A Daughter For The Juntas

Kendal MacLean Junta, first daughter for Mr. and Mrs. Dale W. Junta of Carmel, is just ten days old today. Born at Community Hospital on May 16, Kendal is contentedly settled in her bassinet, where she is the object of much attention from her 20-month-old brother, Benjamin.

Mrs. Junta's mother, Mrs. Chandler Ide, was on hand to welcome the family addition and has remained to lend a helping hand in the household. Kendal's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Junta of San Leandro.

Pomona President Honored

On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Chappellet of Pebble Beach asked friends interested in Pomona College, also local alumni, to a reception to meet Dr. E. Wilson Lyon, president of Pomona, and to hear him make a few informal remarks about the college and its future plans.

Among those invited were Mrs. Kenneth Walker and her daughter, Anne, Mrs. Alfred Castle, James M. R. Glaser, Mr. and Mrs. Allman Cook, Dr. and Mrs Edward Wedlake, Mrs. H. V. Alward, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ricklefs, Dr. and Mrs. George Faul, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Rainer, Dr. and Mrs. Donald Scanlon, Dr. Daniel Gornel, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Swim, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Forrest (Sybil Chappellet) and Colonel and Mrs. Paul Winslow.

Acting as co-hostesses for the delightful buffet supper for four score persons were Mrs. Rainer, Mrs. Scanlon and Claire Chappellet, all Pomona graduates. The Chappellets' son, Cyril Don Chappellet, another Pomona graduate, was also here from Beverly Hills.

The senior Mr. Chappellet, whose three children earned their degrees at the college, has been a trustee of Pomona for 12 years.

Returned To St. Paul

As always, friends of former Carmelite Mrs. Howard (Yodee) Johnson are sorry to learn that her winter visit here has come to an end. Mrs. Johnson, who has been visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Paul Flanders, and Mrs. Paul Whitman of Pebble Beach, return-May 16 to her home near St. Paul, Minnesota.

The couple above are Mr. and Mrs. Jay Robert Newmarch, the former Elizabeth Dowdy, whose wedding took place May 8 at Highlands Inn Wedding Chapel in an afternoon ceremony read by Kenneth A. Garner, Chaplain, U.S.A.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dowdy of Seattle, attended Seattle schools and the University of Washington.

The newly married couple's home is in San Francisco where the bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Newmarch of Carmel, is in the managerial department of Roos-Atkins.

New Grant For Jennie-Keith

Jennie-Keith Hill, now a teaching assistant of human behavior in the anthropology department of Northwestern University while continuing her graduate studies, has received a grant of a resident fellowship from the Inter-Societal Committee at Northwestern which carries a stipend of $3,500, including tuition. This is the first time the grant, backed by the Ford Foundation, has been made to a graduate student who has not yet earned a Ph.D. degree. She will work under the direction of the head of the department of linguistics, a field in which she has done considerable research.

This week, Jennie-Keith is on Edisto Island off the coast of South Carolina, where she is taking part in a socio-linguistic survey of the Gullah dialect. When the project is completed, she hopes there will be time to look up family members of the Richard Loftons, who have sent her letters of introduction, in South Carolina.

After the end of the term, she will be home in Carmel to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hill.

They Like Being Natives

For many years Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Patterson were among numerous Fresno residents who vacationed in Carmel as often as possible. Now, although they have been traveling a great deal since acquiring a house here two years ago and have only recently returned from Australia and New Zealand, they feel qualified to be tourist-watchers.

What some consider a penalty of living in Carmel—a constant stream of envious house guests—Mrs. Patterson finds a delightful part of life in our village.

Lori Marie Makes Six

The ratio of girls to boys in the family of the Benjamin Viljoens of Carmel Valley switched to two-to-one on May 9 with the arrival at Community Hospital of Lori Marie, the fourth daughter for the couple.

Lori's brothers are Benjamin Johannes, 13, named for an illustrious family member, Boer War hero General Benjamin Johannes Viljoen, and William, now 11. Her sisters are Heidi, eight, Lisa, six, and Rebecca, a proud four.

The young lady's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wynand Viljoen—long residents of this area—are now living in Kailua, Hawaii. A Carmel resident and equally well known is Lori's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Reid.

Art News . . . .

On June 1, a one-man show of the work of Darwin Musselman will open at the Zantman Art Galleries on Sixth Avenue between San Carlos and Dolores streets.

This painter's interest in art demanded an outlet in childhood. He used what materials he had at hand to copy and study. Art books taught him color and composition. He did a self-portrait over and over in varying lights to develop observation and skill. Later, at Fresno State College, he began to think of art as a career. During his four years at this college he was staff artist for school publications and exhibited with the Fresno Art Association, also studied with Leon Feininger. Later when Darwin Musselman was director of art education at the California College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland, he studied with Yasuo Kuniyoshi.

He has exhibited all over the United States and in Mexico, is listed in "Who's Who in American Art"; and is a member of the American Watercolor Society, California Watercolor Society and the San Francisco Art Institute.

Robert Shafer. This artist grew up in Litchfield, Connecticut and did the normal series of varied things that young, experimental artists always do for experience — including running a mink farm. As he settled into his work however, he found a rich store of inspiration close at hand, namely the work of the old New England "Limners."

From their feeling for men and materials, Robert Shafer gradually evolved a contemporary precisionist style that is both peculiarly his own, also peculiarly American in its attributes. The combination has been both unique and provocative in its achievement.

A student photography show opened in the Monterey Peninsula College library lecture hall on Tuesday and will remain on view through June 7.

Entitled "Cannery Row," the exhibition will feature some 35 black-and-white prints by the advanced students of Geraldine Sharpe of Carmel, MPC evening photography instructor. The prints are the result of a class project assigned by Miss Sharpe.

The public is invited to view the show during the college library's regular day and evening hours, except when the lecture hall is being used as a classroom or meeting room.

The Galerie de Tours is currently showing a series of paintings by

The exhibit for the month of June at the Carmel Foundation Town House will consist of lithographs by Mrs. Elinor Guttridge of Carmel. The Town House is open 10 to 5 p. m. daily, Monday through Friday.

Mrs. Guttridge studied art at Vassar College and Grand Central, Art School in New York City. After studying painting on the Maine coast and in Santa Fe, New Mexico, she became interested in lithography and took courses at the San Francisco Art Institute and the College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland.

The artist has exhibited etchings at the Art Association of San Francisco Women Artists, California Society of Etchers, De Young Museum, Legion of Honor and the San Francisco Museum of Art. Her textile designs and screen print fabrics have also been included in an international exhibit.

State Amateur Golf Championship Entry Deadline Is June 4

Entries for the 55th California Amateur Golf Championship to be played at Pebble Beach Golf Links and the Cypress Point Club June 20 through June 26, and the Handicap Tournament scheduled for Monterey Peninsula Country Club and Del Monte Golf Courses at the same time, close on June 4.

The field is filling fast for the championship which is limited to the first 350 entries received at tournament headquarters, Pebble Beach.

Verne E. Callison of Sacramento will defend his title. Other scratch handicap players who have already signed up include F. C. Bradley, Pacific Palisades; James Rheim, Jr., Stanford, and Guy Bill, Oakland.

One handicappers include Ron Moore, West Covina; Bruce Osborne, La Mesa; John Richardson, Long Beach; Charles Van Linge, Portola Valley; Bob Ireland, Atherton; and Steve Stimac, Concord.

Listed at 2 are Raymond Arinno, Sacramento; Jack Chapman, San Mateo; Rod Curl, Redding; Dr. Don Keith, San Diego; Bruce McCormick (a former state champion), Temple City; Henry Suico, Oakland; Chuck Brenkus, Los Angeles; Frank Hoover, Bakersfield; Gary Kline, El Cajon; John Paige, La Jolla; Ernest Pieper, Jr., San Juan Bautista (also a former state champion); and Lloyd Rossi, Diablo.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Summer seems to be a laggard lady, and a good book is still the best way to spend a cool and foggy evening. Here are a few notes about some good ones newly come to the library.

James Wadsworth spent some eight years gathering material for his book THE GLASS HOUSE. When you learn that he was for those eight years our representative to the United Nations you will realize that the glass house is the United Nations. Basing his book on the theory that the principal activities of this organization never make the headlines, he explains the inner workings of the United Nations and the people who make it work as it does. This is a book which could clear out a lot of misunderstandings and give us all a better basis upon which to evaluate the work and the effect of the U.N.

Some of you may recall the great flood in Dayton, Ohio, which happened in March of 1913 and was one of the most disastrous floods in our history. It left 200 people dead, and did $3 million damage to the city. The people of Dayton seemed lethargic when the possibility of a great flood was upon them and only one man realized how disastrous such a flood could be. John H. Patterson, the president of the National Cash Register Company, visualized the result of flooding, and he turned the company's great building into a refuge for victims of the flood. There they were received, fed, and treated for accidents and illnesses. Mr. Patterson is credited with saving thousands of people from death. The book about all this is entitled A TIME OF TERROR and it was written by Allan Eckert.

Since this library collects in both technical theatre and costume, it was natural that we should want DESIGNING AND MAKING STAGE COSTUMES by Motley. Motley is composed of three women, who have been eminently successful in designing for the stage. The book itself is delightful bookmaking for the pages of text are on a soft beige paper, while the pages of illustrations are printed on almost white paper. Well indexed, with explicit directions and hundreds of pictures and diagrams, this is a treasure trove for the stage costume designer.

For golfers everywhere comes Pan Am's new book GOLF, NEW HORIZONS. Here are pictures and descriptions of golf courses all around the world. Gene Sarazen did the writing and figures in many of the pictures. Examine this book and then when you go on a golfing vacation trip, go buy a copy to take along with you. If you can afford a golfing vacation you can afford $5.95 for the book.

THE HOW BOOK FOR GENEALOGISTS is now in its sixth edition and was written by George Everton. Charts and lists of genealogies being what they are, the last part of this book may be the part which will do you the most good. It is a genealogical dictionary. The first part tells you how to go about tracing a family and such what. Good luck!

Now just one quick mention of a new book on mountain climbing, which is by Lionel Terray who is not only a climber but also a champion skier and a photographer. Put them all together and you have THE BORDERS OF THE IMPOSSIBLE. If heights bother you, read but don't look at the pictures. Even the pictures made this librarian fearful.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel 624-3881.

STUDY AND TRAVEL ABROAD

Today, John Gosling of Carmel, conductor of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra and director of the Monterey Peninsula Choral Society, left for Europe.

He has been invited to make recordings in Norway before joining Josef Krips, San Francisco Symphony conductor, at the Vienna Festival. In Austria, Mr. Gosling will lecture at the Vienna Conservatory.

He will also work in Paris, with an authority on Renaissance music. This work will be in preparation for the Festival of Renaissance Music to be held on the Monterey Peninsula in November. Mr. Gosling hopes to acquire music of that period, not previously heard in the United States, for this event. Also in Paris, he will visit the family of Robert Casadesus, internationally acclaimed pianist.

Other highlights of Mr. Gosling's trip abroad will be a visit, in Amsterdam, with Bernard Haitinck, conductor of the Concert Begouw Orchestra; seeing, in Italy, pianist John Browning at the Spoleta Festival, visits to Florence and Venice, and attending opera performances in Rome; also a stay in Zurich, Switzerland.

Mr. Gosling is being sent on this trip by the Monterey County Symphony Association. Donations from members made the commission possible. The association feels that future symphony concert audiences will be the beneficiaries of the conductor's educational travels.

Previous tours taken by Mr. Gosling include visits to Canada and England. In 1962 he was one of five American conductors chosen to represent the United States in the International Conductors competition in England where he appeared with the Royal Liverpool Philharmonic Orchestra.

Mr. Gosling will return to the Monterey Peninsula in August.

Big Sur Steak Dinner Helps Red Cross Attain Fund Goal

BY MARJORIE HALLER

An extra contribution from Big Sur was a factor in the achievement of the 1966 Fund goal of $28,796 by the Carmel-by-the-Sea chapter of the American Red Cross, when the Big Sur steak dinner committee handed in $589.66.

Although the Big Sur community had already responded to the Red Cross annual fund and membership drive with their usual generosity, they decided to express additional appreciation in a substantial way for the new ambulance being given them by the Carmel-by-the-Sea chapter.

"This is solely the idea of some of our local members," said Ted Bergquist, a member of the Big Sur ambulance volunteer crew, "to show our gratitude for having received so much for so little."

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Shadwell, who originated the idea of a benefit dinner, offered the facilities of their Glen Oaks restaurant and their personal services for the steak dinner which was a success, both financially and socially. Mrs. Mary Fleenor, proprietor of Post's Restaurant, closed her place early and hung out a sign suggesting that would-be patrons have dinner at the Glen Oaks. Her chef, Archie Hess, gave his entire evening to cooking steaks at Glen Oaks, and he was assisted by another off-duty cook, Richard Gagnon of the U. S. Naval Facility. On a brief vacation at Big Sur, a San Mateo girl, Margo Sue Metsger, who is a Pan American stewardess, helped serve dinners and joined the clean-up crew.

All the food and beverages were donated with the exception of the steaks which were furnished at cost, and all the labor was volunteer, headed up by the first aid unit of Big Sur. This unit will be the volunteers who will man the new ambulance, delivery of which is expected in September.

In thanking everyone who worked hard to make the dinner such a great success, Ted Bergquist, the hard-working committee chairman said, "There was only one thing wrong. I was so busy I didn't get around to having my steak dinner."

Red Cross Urges Blood Donations

F. Douglas Tellwright, blood program chairman of the local Red Cross, has announced that the Department of Defense has asked participating chapters, of which Carmel is one, to produce 80,000 pints of blood plasma by July 1 for shipment to Viet Nam.

"Many prospective donors have been prohibited from contributing in the past because of a medical history of hepatitis or malaria," Mr. Tellwright said. "However," he continued, "their blood is fully acceptable for conversion into plasma, and we are hoping these people will make a particular effort to come to the next blood giving on June 2."

The bloodmobile will be at the Carmel Red Cross, chapter on June 2 between 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Whole blood will also be collected for use in local hospitals and for replacement of blood previously used in transfusions. Donors are asked to have their Social Security numbers readily available, as the Blood Center now requires this information.

Luncheon will be served to all donors and baby sitting will be provided at the chapter house. Appointments, although not necessary, may be made by telephoning the chapter (624-6921 or 624-6455).

Wouldn't it be helpful if you could buy or sell property through one Realtor, and yet have the benefit of the services, or listings, of many others? The Carmel Board of Realtors think so too, and that is why, eight years ago, its Multiple Listing Service was established. Only Realtors are entitled to participate in the Listing Service. Sellers like to expose their property to the prospects of, and employ the efforts of all Realtors and their salesmen. Buyers enjoy the convenience of the "One Stop" look at the market, knowing that the properties they are shown are professionally inspected and listed.

During the last four months, the Carmel Board of Realtors, through its Multiple Listing Service, sold $1,057,000 worth of your property — and many millions of dollars worth since it was established.

CONDOR COUNTRY TRIP

To be standing atop a forest station lookout, 9,000 feet high in the Sierra, miles from the nearest road or human habitation; to see a California Condor—that largest of all North American birds—circling, in the sky; to hear the rustle and whistle of the great feathered body as it soars; to see the unmistakable, identifying feature of the elongated, triangular-shaped, white patches underneath the tremendous wings; this is an extraordinary experience—one never to be forgotten — and was the writer's joy when on a back country hiking trip within the Sequoia National Park of California. It was a rare and wonderful hour, there at sunset, watching this magnificent bird, a living remnant from the Pleistocene Age, circling, soaring, gliding the air currents. It had been hoped that sometime the opportunity would come to visit "the isolated pockets deep in the back country," described in detail in a book "California Condor — Vanishing American," By Dick Smith and Robert Easton.

The opportunity came last Memorial Day weekend, when I joined members of the Ventana and Loma Prieta chapters of the Sierra Club who were embarking upon a "trip with a difference," a hiking, back packing adventure that was to take us into the southern part of the Los Padres National Forest for the express purpose of seeing the country where the California Condor roosts and nests. A repeat of this trip will be held this weekend (May 28, 29, 30) led by Sam Hopkins of Big Sur and Carmel. He is a member of the executive committee and outing committee chairman of the Ventana Chapter of the Sierra Club.

Last year, we gathered, and camped, at Cachuma Camp, in the Santa Barbara back country, 200 miles south of Carmel. Up before dawn the next day, we drove our cars to Cachuma Saddle (at an elevation of 3,100 feet) there to begin a 17-mile hike up to 6,500 feet to make camp at Mission Pine Springs, an area surrounded by sugar pine, fir, pinyon pine and great rock outcroppings.

All along the trail were the tracks of mountain lion, bear, coyote, deer and raccoon. This is rugged country, not heavily forested, a land where streams and springs are few and widely separted, an area not too frequented by man. It is a land filled with countless little creatures, many birds, rattlesnakes, and a profuse and colorful display of wild flowers and brilliant shrubs. At the lower elevations, yucca, sometimes called the Lord's Candle, dotted the hillsides. Then patches of pink and white prickly phlox, matilija poppies (a delicate white blossom with the appearance of tissue paper), fremontia (a waxy, yellow, flowering shrub), wallflowers, wild sweet peas and monkey flowers. Higher, showy red snowplants and little gardens of violets and baby blue eyes delighted us.

The full significance of this "trip with a difference" came when we hiked out from base camp at Mission Springs, to the rim of the condor sanctuary. (Only a special condor patrolman, a member of the United States Forest Service, is permitted within the sanctuary). Constantly we were on the alert for sight of one of the great birds and though none appeared during our day-long, ten-mile venture, we had the joyous knowledge that we were actually within condor country!

A recent survey by the National Audubon Society estimates that there are only about 40 to 45 condors in existence. Although they are known to range over a wide area of California, from southern Monterey County eastward to the slopes of the Sierra and southward to Santa Barbara and Ventura Counties, the California Condor Sanctuary, within the Sespe Wildlife Area, bordered by the San Rafael and Sierra Madre Mountains, is one of their last known nesting and roosting places.

Over the years there has been controversy regarding possible construction of new roads within this wild country. These controversies have accelerated in recent months, because of a proposed road through or near the condor's habitat, to serve a planned new federal dam and reservoir and its suggested recreational facilities. Last year, the Governor of California signed into a law, a bill increasing the penalty for killing or harming a California Condor, from a $500 fine or six months imprisonment, to a maximum penalty of a $1,000 fine or a year imprisonment, or both. The Governor said "We must give immediate and continued protection to the endangered species."

Perhaps one needs to see a condor in flight, or visit the rugged, isolated country in which they live, to appreciate the need to protect this vanishing species. With wings that spread nearly 11 feet, the condor is large enough and romantic enough to capture most men's fancy. It would appear that the magnificent bird may be on the verge of arriving at his long overdue status, that of a national treasure, one worthy of our respect, affection, understanding and protection.

Party Plans

From Memorial to Labor Day it's Barbecue Time in the U.S.A. Any place under the open sky, backyard, patio, beach or picnic ground, a gay cookout is for the whole family. To prove our point, we'll take the Zoellins. Parents and children, all natives of the Monterey Peninsula, are true exponents of this casual way to entertain. When we say casual perhaps we're exaggerating. The chef-by-instinct of the family is Joe, who plans and cooks his prize offering with expertise.

This Memorial Day, Joe Zoellin, who works at his parent's Carmel Drive-In Market, will spit-barbecue a 30-pound suckling wild boar! Before giving instructions for this masterpiece, let's take a look at the whole menu.

MEMORIAL DAY BARBECUE MENU

Crisp Vegetables with Dip and Olives
Beer Soft Drinks
Palo Corona Suckling Boar
Different Beans Sourdough Bread
Whopping Western Salad
Watermelon Fruit Boat
Assorted Cookies
Toasted Marshmallows
Coffee Milk

CRISP VEGETABLES WITH DIP AND OLIVES

Place cooked artichoke petals in circles around the dip with flowerets of raw broccoli and cauliflower, carrot curls and celery sticks. Drained colossal pitted olives are better when marinated with olive oil and garlic slivers. Drain at serving and serve icy cold. For the dip, soften chive cream cheese with milk. Season with salt and mayonnaise; stir well; next add toasted chopped almonds and whip until creamy but firm. Top with chopped pimiento.

PALO CORONA SUCKLING BOAR
(Makes 24 servings)

Whole 30 lb. piglet; 6 tbsps. salt; 1 tsp. pepper; 1 tsp. garlic salt; 1 lb. green onions, tops included; 2 lbs. yellow apples; large red apple for garnish.

It will take two days to thaw the frozen cleaned piglet. For those who are not so fortunate as to have a suckling wild boar from the Stuyvesant Fish Palo Corona Ranch, have your butcher prepare a whole suckling piglet.

Joe Zoellin fills the piglet's cavity with dry red wine until cooking time. This is then drained and the inside rubbed with half the salt, pepper and garlic salt, saving remainder for outside. Stuff cavity with chopped green onions and halved, cored unpeeled apples. Using metal skewers, truss cavity with heavy cord or wire. Place piglet on spit 6 feet long. Fasten securely to spit with cord or wire wound criss-cross fashion around piglet. Place over pit containing a layer of oakwood topped with charcoal briquets. Add a few bay leaves for fragrance.

Start spit so it revolves in front of coals and drippings won't be wasted in the fire. Use a drip pan to catch the juices. Baste frequently. Before cooking, crush foil to make a firm ball and place in piglet's mouth to keep it open. Cover ears with foil. Start testing piglet at end of 3 hours, although it may take 5 hours to cook. It should be well done, the meat succulent and the skin a crackling brown. Before carving, place large red apple in piglet's mouth and use maraschino cherries for eyes.

Basting Sauce: Two-thirds cups, each, red wine vinegar and lemon juice; 1 cup peanut or sesame oil; 3 garlic cloves, mashed; 1 tsp. salt, 1 tbsp. soya sauce; grated black pepper and nutmeg.

Mrs. Zoellin's mother always brings the beans, cooked at home and reheated on edge of barbecue. Once the beans became too dry, so this ingenious great grandmother quickly snatched a can of beer from her astonished son-in-law and poured the liquid on the beans before they scorched.

Although Evelyn Zoellin says she doesn't know her mother's exact recipe, she figures the packaged pinto beans are started in cold water, brought to a boil and reduced to simmer with cut-up red onions and garlic. When beans are almost tender, cut-up salt pork and green peppers are added. Beans continue cooking gently until soft but not broken. Salt is then added to taste. And beer too! No wonder they are different but super.

WHOPPING WESTERN SALAD

Supply a generous variety of Carmel Valley greens such as red, butter and romaine lettuce broken into bite-size. Add young raw spinach and watercress sprigs. At picnic keep refrigerated in special container until ready to serve.

Oriental Salad Dressing: 3 cups salad oil; 1 tsp. paprika; 1 tsp. dry mustard; 2 cloves garlic, crushed; salt, pepper and wine vinegar to taste; drained thinly sliced water chestnuts and chopped drained bamboo shoots.

Combine ingredients in covered jar. Keep chilled; shake well and pour over greens but do not drown salad.

WATERMELON FRUIT BOAT

Children as well as grown-ups adore this colorful dessert. With sharp knife cut lid from watermelon and remove inside; leave at least an inch on rind. Fill with watermelon balls, large strawberries with stems; pineapple chunks and juice; orange sections or canned mandarin oranges; sliced bananas and seedless grapes. Top with angel flake grated coconut.

At dusk just as the stars appear, youngsters at the Zoellin picnic will toast marshmallows on long sticks and pass them around with assorted cookies. A picturesque Cachagua cabin in the upper Carmel Valley is the ideal spot where the family barbecue will be held.

Peninsula YMCA Seeks Members

The Monterey Peninsula Young Men's Christian Association has raised $4,490 to date in its first public campaign for memberships under the chairmanship of Dr. George Thorngate.

This amount is 14.2 percent of the goal of $31,600 needed to operate the "Y" on the Peninsula for the year beginning June 1.

The Peninsula "Y" was proposed about a year ago. Three months ago a general secretary, Douglas H. Sprague, was employed. Today four Y-Indian Guide tribes are in existence, and one Jr. Hi-Y Club.

The program of the Monterey Peninsula YMCA is geared for boys. No building is proposed, but rather the program is designed to be taken to the boys, on whatever part of the Peninsula they may reside, according to Leslie Dixon, president of the YMCA board. Memberships to the YMCA are tax-deductible.

FAMOUS SOLDIER HONORED

A famed general of the U. S. Army was honored on May 19 when the Soldier's Club at Fort Ord was dedicated to the memory of the late General Joseph W. ("Vinegar Joe") Stilwell. Above, (at left), the general's son, Brigadier General Joseph W. Stilwell, Commandant of the John F. Kennedy Center for Special Warfare, Fort Bragg, North Carolina, stands beside the plaque renaming the soldiers' recreation center Stilwell Hall. At right is his mother, Mrs. Stilwell, who lives in the family home which she and her late husband built on Carmel Point.

Stilwell Hall was constructed in the early 1940s, entirely with voluntary contributions from soldiers under the late General Stilwell's command.

His son, in command of Green Beret training at Fort Bragg, was the guest of honor and speaker, on the day of the dedication, at a luncheon given by the Monterey Tri-County Chapter of the Association of the U.S. Army. He gave an illustrated talk on his experiences as a commanding general of a U. S. Army support group in Viet Nam from 1962-64. His mother was a special guest at the luncheon.

MOTHERS' CLUB LUNCHEON

The Junipero Serra School Mothers' Club will hold its annual luncheon on June 2 at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Donna Ataide (624-5766).

DAR Chapter Hears Delegate Tell About Continental Congress

The annual luncheon meeting of the Commodore Sloat Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held May 17 at La Playa Hotel. Highlight of the gathering was the comprehensive and informative account of the recent DAR Continental Congress given by Mrs. Frank E. La Cauza, local chapter delegate.

Business meetings were held in Constitutional Hall and most of the social events were at the Mayflower Hotel. On the opening night Henry H. Taylor, journalist and former U. S. Ambassador to Switzerland, chose as his title, "Looking Ahead at Home and Abroad" for his keynote address. Dr. Max Rafferty, superintendent of public instruction and director of education for the State of California, was the national defense speaker. Mrs. La Cauza held the attention of her listeners by describing the pageantry of the meetings and quoting salient points brought out by the speakers as well as many humorous anecdotes that she had heard.

She also reported that Convention Hall is to be air conditioned, redecorated and refurbished in the near future making the already beautiful building more attractive and comfortable in the summer. The National DAR Good Citizen chosen in recent competition was given a $1,000 scholarship which she will use in her native state of Oklahoma. The Continental Congress approved an American History Scholarship of $8,000 to be paid over a period of four years to the winner who will be chosen from the entire United States.

Mrs. La Cauza was the guest of Mrs. C. V. O. Terwilliger at the Maryland state luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel. Both the hostess and her guests are past regents of the Peggy Stewart Tea Party Chapter of the DAR. Mrs. Terwilliger and the late Professor Terwilliger lived in Carmel until recently.

Mrs. La Cauza also visited friends in Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, New England and Kentucky before returning home last week. In Hopkinsville, Ky. while visiting her niece, she was the speaker for the May meeting of the Col. John Green Chapter of DAR.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. H. O. Hansen, regent of the Commodore Sloat Chapter, was presented her past regent pin by Mrs. Gilbert Kinney, treasurer.

TUESDAY DEADLINE FOR ABSENTEE BALLOTS

Voters of the 12th Congressional District who plan to be away from this area on June 7, date of the California primary election, may apply for ballots through Tuesday by communicating with the office of the Monterey county clerk in Salinas. These ballots must be returned to the clerk's office by 5 p.m. on June 6, if they are to be counted.

Bach Festival Ticket Sales Start June 1

Tickets for the concerts and recitals of the Carmel Bach Festival will go on sale at the festival office on June 1. The office is located at the north end of the Sunset Center building at San Carlos and Eighth and will be open Mondays through Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The festival dates this year are July 15 - 24. A concert in the Mission and a variety of daytime recitals as well as the nine major performances in Sunset Auditorium are included in the 1966 program.

The twelfth-century musical drama, "The Play of Herod," will be given its second modern performance and its West Coast Premiere in the Mission Basilica on July 20.

The festival again will be directed by Maestro Sandor Salgo.

Letters To The Editor . . .

DELAY CIVIC CENTER

Mayor S. Grant,
Carmel

When we voted to purchase Sunset it was thought that we were voting for a civic center, community center, city hall, etc. This was to be for community use by the people of Carmel.

The vote was not for a convention center, Peninsula cultural center, Peninsula-wide auditorium, or for the use of a $1.00 a year group.

I feel any action taken by the council, realizing you five gentlemen are our elected representatives, should be on a strong, clear voice with the traditional mandate. This you do not have with a 3-2 vote.

Since there is, and was, confusion this should be put to a vote as to location. When Sunset was purchased people were not voting for 4th and Junipero. At the election—if the majority of people want the 4th and Junipero location—you would have the backing and mandate. This is the most important decision any of our councils has made for many years and it should not be made by one man.

Sincerely yours,
Arthur C. Hull

Editor's Note: The above letter to the Mayor of Carmel was submitted to the Pine Cone for publication by Mr. Hull.

AGAINST FREEWAY

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone

Those who complain of the "bumper-to-bumper" traffic while they "go to work" do not belong in Carmel.

Carmel is not supposed to be just a "bedroom" for those working elsewhere. Persons such as this are destroying the quiet, unhurried atmosphere of an uncommercial small area. Let them live nearer their work—where they can speed through.

Freeways alongside of this rare village will make it the dumping place of transients.

Yours truly,
C. T. Mackuldar

PROPOSITION 14

Editor:
Carmel Pine Cone

Anatomical juxtaposition was ne'er better exemplified on the Monterey Peninsula than it was last week, when the Peninsula press carried full page spreads proclaiming the Professionalism of the members of the California Real Estate Association at the same time the organization's president, Burt Smith, charged the State Supreme Court with "a deliberate flaunting of the peoples' will".

Disgust with the mewling of the CREA might well give way to at least a grudging respect if the organization would state on at least one occasion with no holds barred: "We are for Proposition 14 because we don't want unsegregated housing".

The right to total ownership of property by the individual, the selfsame right which Smith claims the court flaunted, has always been conditional. The cream of the jest is that many of these conditional limitations have been either sponsored or at least enthusiastically upheld by the realtors themselves. One simple example will suffice! Neither I nor anyone else in Monterey County may subdivide property I own without conformity to density provisions and other regulations established by the selfsame courts flaunting (sic) my will by establishment of the legality of such provisions. Such regulatory restrictions, should there be a proposal to repeal them, would, I feel certain, be stoutly and valiantly supported by an overwhelming majority of CREA members.

Similar infringements of individual rights are involved in vaccination programs, the income tax, issuance of passports, and fire prevention codes. Nor does the existence of such regulatory measures ensure the approval of certain important sub-segments of the total American public. For example it would not, I suggest, be too difficult to find certain bodies politic which, en group, would uphold the codes and practices of the Ku Klux Klan, the Black Muslims, etc., by even as much as a two-to-one majority.

CREA and Whittaker and Baxter have created a "black herring" in California; but the State Supreme Court by its decision, and disregarding the fact this decision was based upon law not sociology, has given California enough time to discover that even "black herrings" have a most unpalatable stench when exposed to the sunlight of justice for all of our people.

ALLEN KNIGHT MEMORIAL MUSEUM

Members of the Sunset Commission will meet with Mrs. Allen Knight to discuss with her the exhibition of her late husband's maritime collection at Sunset Center.

As a member of the city council, the late Allen Knight served as Mayor of Carmel for two years and as police commissioner for eight. His love of the sea and ships led to his collecting numerous items of historical value in regard to seafaring which he kept at his home in a special room, designed like quarters on a ship.

Sunset Commission Budget Consideration

Whether or not the city council means to retain the present Sunset Center structures was a question which occupied the Sunset Commission on Monday night. Should the council decide to keep the existing structures, then steps must be taken to make them attractive was the consensus arrived at during the meeting.

Commissioner Jean van Loben Sels suggested asking the council whether or not it favored retention or replacement of the facilities, also to give a decision on whether or not the city hall will be moved to the Sunset site. (The year's moratorium on this matter ends next month.)

Commissioner Ted Fehring said he felt strongly that the present buildings should be preserved and enhanced. Commissioner Franke Falge pointed out the necessity of maintaining and restoring the structures.

Chairman Peter Dyer suggested that the commission undertake 1966-67 budget consideration from the point of view of retention of the present buildings for at least five years.

Presented to the commission was the $4,865 estimate for painting the auditorium received from James P. Ryan.

Operation of Sunset Center budget items agreed upon were the employment of an additional custodian making a total salary request of $16,201; utilities, $5,000; telephone, $200; materials and supplies, $3,000; rental equipment, $150; unsegregated, $100.

Budget items for expenses of the Sunset Commission were suggested as follows: dues and memberships, $20; travel and personal expenses, $200; professional services for a study and survey of Sunset Center, $4,000; materials and supplies, $50; postage and shipping, $50; printing, $100; documents and publications, $30; unsegregated, $100.

Maintenance and repair budget items were held for discussion on June 13 and estimates of capital outlay items were asked to be obtained for review on the same date.

All the above items are subject to the approval of the city council during its budget sessions.

School Tax May Drop 12-14 Cents

by $148,184. The revised, balanced budget is also $5,808 less than the 1965-66 budget which was supported by a $2.53 tax rate. This tax was 4 cents lower than the 1964-65 rate.

The school board was not entirely pleased by the cuts presented by Mr. Bair. Both the board chairman, Dr. Robert E. Newton, and Board Member Mrs. Roxana Blanks were dissatisfied with the $35,869 cut in the transportation budget accomplished by providing school bus transportation only for those pupils who live beyond a seven-mile distance from any school. The transportation figure arrived at by this method was $50,773, a reduction of $31,204 from the sum budgeted for this service during the current year.

"I don't think we can live with this drastic reduction in transportation," Dr. Newton declared.

"Do you want better education, or transportation?" queried Board Member Steven Sassoon. Board Member Dr. Hilton Bialek wanted to know how many pupils would be affected by the new seven-mile transportation limit. Board Member Clayton Neill Jr. proposed further study on the transportation problem and this will be undertaken on June 8.

Mr. Neill emphatically stated he would like to have the amount budgeted for administration, also operation of schools, cut by ten percent. Mr. Bair indicated that last night's budget reflected the employment of one less administrator, one librarian and three custodians. Mr. Neill still maintained that more cuts could be accomplished in the "other expenses" areas of the two categories which include expenditures for lights, heat, telephones, etc. He stressed that these costs were $20 per pupil higher than the state average.

Dr. Bialek did not like the reduction to two days of the employment of a psychologist for the district. He proposed cutting expenses of instruction in each school five percent to provide funds to maintain the present three days a week service for 83 pupils, also to endeavor to cover the needs of 20 cases not at present taken care of.

The special tax cuts which will most materially accomplish the 12-14 cent predicted tax drop next year are a 20 percent cut in the community services budget and a ten percent cut in adult education expenditures. A higher fee will also be charged for adult education classes to bring in more revenue.

The classified staff of the district has been cut ten percent. This included the elimination of seven school bus drivers and the reduction to three hours per day of a driver now employed full time. Should however, the board finally decide not to adopt the new seven-mile limit, these employees will be retained.

Last night's balanced budget was accomplished also by eliminating the following: English workshop for teachers; purchase of a new school bus; custodial vacation replacement; high school summer school; $3,000 from elementary summer school expenditures; $6,500 from interschool sports; $9,565 replacement of instructional equipment; substitute and emergency clerical help; four teachers.

The last item will increase the teacher load to 27 pupils per class next year. The increase in teachers' salaries will raise the starting salary of a new teacher to $5,650. Other material increases will be in the middle ranges of the scale to provide for the employment of experienced teachers and a double honorarium will be paid when tenure is granted. The sum budgeted to cover teachers' salaries is $1,259,986 as compared to $1,158,316 for the current year.

Other action by the school board last night was to approve transferring 20 Pebble Beach elementary pupils from River to Woods school next year and to authorize advertising for bids for the construction of a library at Carmelo School for which $50,000 already has been budgeted from capital outlay funds provided by the sale of Sunset School to the City of Carmel. Also budgeted in this category is the sum of $3,000 to cover work on the site, such as the construction of walkways, and $12,000 for equipment.

Boosters Club To Raise Funds For Carmel High Sports

Joe Ward made a motion for a committee to be formed to study the possibility of selling $10 season admission tickets to interscholastic games. This was unanimously passed and he was appointed chairman of the committee.

Mrs. Romayne Hill proposed that a Jr. Boosters group be organized, composed of members of the high school student body, to work with adult Booster Club programs. This was discussed and Mrs. Hill is to head up and guide this activity.

Other ideas included revival of the high school carnival and the possibility of a radio show.

The most enthusiastically accepted idea was to solicit donations for a trip to Hawaii for a lucky ticket holder. The original capital for this project to be obtained through donations of blue chip and green stamp trading books having a cash value now of about $3, also similar stamp books. Some 100 books were pledged but more are needed by the end of June.

The salaries for the coaching staff will be paid by the school district, but all expenses for safety equipment, supplies and team transportation will have to be paid out of non-tax funds.

The 1966-67 CUSD athletic preliminary budget lists income as $6,885 against $5,640 operating expenses. In addition, over $5,200 is required for equipment.

Attorney Elwood Wilson has offered to donate his services to incorporate the Boosters Club as a non-profit organization. This has several advantages, including the ability to accept tax deductible gifts. Tom Tousey, Dr. Richard Sinclair and Henry D. Newman have been designated as the officials of this corporation.

For this Saturday night, the Letterman's Club is sponsoring a Flamenco Concert. Proceeds will be turned over to the athletic program. The concert will be held at 8:00 p.m. in Brey Hall at the High School. Tickets are 75c for students and $1.00 for adults.

Planners Approve New Subdivision

Revised plans for "High Meadows," Carmel Land Company's proposed subdivision east of Highway One at the intersection of Carpenter street, were recommended for county approval by the Carmel planning Commission last night. The commissioners agreed after examining original and new maps submitted by the developer's representative, William L. Hudson, who appeared to explain in detail the alterations and the reasons therefor. Better roads with less cuts, additional green belt area and a reduction from 416 to 380 units (necessitated by altered lines in the Hatton Canyon Freeway route) were among the changes planners found favorable.

Tidewater Oil Company was granted a request for a variance to increase driveway width at its station on the northeast corner of San Carlos and Sixth but was requested to revise rebuilding plans in accordance with the adopted interim report recommendations by Commissioners William Godwin and Bernard Laiolo. Robert Green, representing the oil company, was asked, also to clarify details of the plans, particularly fencing, before resubmission.

On recommendation by the design review committee, commissioners granted Joel Thomas permission for a six foot entrance canopy at El Matador, provided that certain signs so ordered had been removed and that the canopy be red and white striped rather than solid red. "Our awning would be white and red striped —maybe making it different," said Harold Nielsen in defense of a request for doorway and winddow awnings at Dolores Bakery (Royal Danish Bakery) in the new theatre building. After pondering the order of stripes, the planners approved a small window awning but suggested a new design be submitted for one over the door. Permission for awnings was also granted to Joe Bellici for his store at Ocean and San Carlos and to Nielsen Bros. Meat Market.

Permits for signs were approved for Heirloom Galleries, Mission and Seventh; Frank F. Hyatt, M.D., Sixth between Lincoln and Dolores; T. R. Hughes, San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth; Helen B. Dooley, Dooley Gallery, Mission between Fifth and Sixth. Permission for low level floodlighting was given Loomis Wine Cellars, Ocean between Dolores and Lincoln; Cottage of Sweets, Ocean between Lincoln and Monte Verde; Richfield Oil Co., San Carlos and Seventh.

Commissioner Glenn Leidig presided in the absence of Chairman Dorothy von Meier.

Elsie McCoy

Private services for Mrs. Elsie McCoy, 92, were held yesterday afternoon in the Paul Mortuary, Pacific Grove. In accordance with her wishes, her ashes will be scattered at sea off Carmel Bay.

A resident of Carmel for the past eight years, Mrs. McCoy died early Tuesday at the Carmel Woods home she shared with her sister and only close relative, Miss Helen Hewitt.

All Saints' Church Services On Sunday

The "Churches Meddling in Civic Affairs: An Answer to Mr. Pew" is the title of the 11 a.m. Morning Prayer sermon Sunday in All Saints' Episcopal Church. Based upon the feature article in the May issue of Readers' Digest, the rector, the Reverend David Hill, will discuss the role of Christians in civic and social affairs.

At the earlier 9:15 a.m. parish Eucharist, the closing sessions of the parish's Sunday School program will be held. A new and revised summer schedule will go into effect on June 4, with a special one-hour summer service and class program alternating with Morning Prayer on the 1st and 3rd Sundays of each month, with celebrations of The Holy Communion on the 2nd and 4th Sundays. (The 11 a.m. service will alternate in reverse order.)

Also featured Sunday will be special prayers of thankgiving for the priesthood of Bishop Winfred Ziegler, D.D. resident of Carmel Highlands since 1949. The Feast of Pentecost is the 53rd anniversary of Bishop Ziegler's ordination to the priesthood in Valdez, Alaska.
